My husband Eric stole my wedding dress and asked our dear friend and epic artist Zoë Buckman to make a special work as a surprise Christmas gift for me. We had been trying to have a baby for years and he asked Buckman to make three boxing gloves to symbolize the additional family member we hoped to have. A few days after I received this wonderful gift, I found out I was pregnant with Harry! So this piece really is full of love and is part of our everyday lives, hanging in the heart of our home.
